Water Lilies by Claude Monet (1840-1926)

The work of French Impressionist, Claude Monet, is instantly recognizable. His vision for the series of paintings of the water lilies in his garden in Giverny, France, was unique. Rather than the viewer being larger than the landscape depicted, one is immersed in it. The artist created over 250 paintings of the water lilies as he was determined to capture the ethereal play of light and colour. It was a passion for perfection.

ELEGANT

Horses of Saint Mark's Basilica, Venice.

Dating from classical antiquity, the four bronze horses of St. Mark's in Venice became legendary from the moment of their creation. Originally part of a monument depicting a quadriga (a four-horse carriage used for chariot racing), they were placed on the façade of the Basilica after the defeat of Constantinople in 1204. The careful craftsmanship is mesmerizing. The horses are caught in motion, graceful and lively, prancing towards the onlooker into St. Mark's Square in the heart of Venice.
